

CQ AND ROLL CALL TO DISTRIBUTE U.S. POLICY COVERAGE TO CHINA THROUGH NEW PARTNERSHIP

Leading U.S. brands signal international expansion through partnership with China-based GRisk

WASHINGTON, D.C., January 24, 2019 – FiscalNote, a technology and media company providing information services and software that connect the world to their governments, today announced that its CQ and Roll Call publications will expand their policy analysis into China in partnership with GRisk, an innovative information platform for financial and business professionals in China.

Through this pivotal international partnership, CQ and Roll Call will provide select policy-based analyses to GRisk for distribution through WeChat and other online platforms, bringing in-depth analysis of U.S. federal legislation and regulation to GRisk users in China.

“This partnership brings CQ and Roll Call’s valued reporting on U.S. federal legislation and regulation to a China-based audience that is craving this insight,” said Josh Resnik, FiscalNote’s Chief Content Officer and SVP/Publisher. “People around the world are more interdependent than ever, and CQ and Roll Call’s unbiased, in-depth analysis of U.S. developments is increasingly valuable to audiences outside the United States.”

Prior to the launch of this partnership, Roll Call and GRisk successfully tested publication of Roll Call’s U.S. midterm election guide, generating strong interest from the Chinese market.

“GRisk is thrilled to partner with CQ and Roll Call to provide non-partisan news and analysis to China’s business and financial professionals,” said Sean Ding, CEO, GRisk. “A growing segment of the Chinese population is deeply impacted by U.S. policies, and so a greater understanding of the actions and processes driving these developments is of great significant to this market.”

CQ and Roll Call will begin publication of policy based analysis to GRisk on January 24. For more information on FiscalNote, you can visit the website here.
